“On my days off I love to snuggle with Baxter, my beagle, while writing blogs, and reading up on topics such as ancient architecture or history.”

“My first paying job was babysitting! I tricked kids by lying about the time so they thought they stayed up late. I was cool even though they were in bed at their usual bedtime. It didn’t work as well once they learnt how to read time.”

“If I was stranded on an island I would want to have John Steinbeck’s East of Eden. I would also like the movie, The Never Ending Story. If I had to pick just one person to be stuck with, I would choose my grandfather.”

“The first thing I notice about people is their shoes. There is an old saying in the fashion industry, “I make shoe contact before eye contact.” If your shoe choice is questionable, it leaves me with an uneasy feeling, but I am not in any way superficial.”

“My advice to a person who’s afraid to cook for a large crowd is to keep things simple, do what you know, have a menu in mind and read the recipes carefully before purchasing the ingredients.”

“Something that people wouldn’t know about me is that in my free time I mentor young people that are interested in changing their lives and need direction. Whether it be in their chosen occupational field, or just guiding them through life’s challenges, I love inspiring them and getting them excited about possibilities.”

*Dear Kris Kringle,
Since moving to the west coast and living on the water, I would love to get a really sleek and sexy speed boat! Possibly something with a small cabin for overnights!*

*My dearest Santa,
My holiday wish is that the foundation for my new garage/living quarters are approved, framed and built (this will be my temporary home) so that the renovation of my house can begin. Thank you Santa!*

*Hi Santa,
The Roomba 980 is what I want! It has bristleless debris extractors, which eliminate hair and fur tangles. I love my little Baxter, but not how much he sheds!*

*Hi Big Fella,
The top of my wish list this year is a beautiful silk rug that I've been coveting. Every time I go and source a rug for my clients, I think I ought to treat myself!*

*Hey Santa!
I would love to get these chic, cutlery holders to use during a dinner party! I love the rustic look of the burlap paired with the barn board display unit.*

“Last year, we were introduced to Marsala. My prediction is that we can expect to see shades of green that would pair well with that hue.”

“I am predicting the colour red for 2016 – not just because I have changed my hair colour to that, but I feel that we are due for a dramatic, chic, passionate and fashionable hue. I also feel we are going to see green in spring or summer.”
